B. Describe the Beckemeyer Schoolwide Title I Program

A highly qualified Title I staff will provide an accelerated, high-quality curriculum with a combination delivery systems in grades K-5 (Kindergarten if time is available) of pull-out or push-in instruction in core subjects. High quality instruction in the Title I classroom will concentrate on supplemental teaching strategies and the modeling of these various teaching strategies designed to meet The New Common Core Standards. The in-class push-in program will be used to minimize removing children from the classroom during essential core subject presentations. An extended school day tutoring program for eligible children may be implemented on an as needed basis. Summer School Programs may be scheduled on an as needed basis if funding is available. Highly qualified teachers and paraprofessionals at the Kindergarten level will participate in the identification of at-risk kids from the District Pre-Kindergarten program. This articulation will be of an ongoing nature over the course of the school year. Paraprofessionals will assist the K-5 teachers in providing high quality instructional support.

All instruction whether pull out or push in will be aligned with The New Common Core Standards. Higher level thinking activities will be a part of the supplemental learning activities provided for all students. Computer assisted instruction will be a strategy to extend learning opportunities

Each student's current level of performance will be assessed multiple times during the school year. Individual student data will be analyzed to develop specific interventions and monitor progress.

If funding is available, instructional classroom aides will be employed in the NCLB Title I Programs available to Beckemeyer Elementary School.

C. Title I Resources

Title I teachers will introduce and model in-class teaching strategies to interested classroom teachers and will be in contact with regular classroom instructors to determine student and program needs on a regular basis. When Title I teachers work with students in a pull-out program, then Title I materials will provide supplemental instruction designed to meet The New Common Core Standards as needed for individual students. Any student receiving Title I instruction in a pullout period will not miss core instructional time in the classroom.

D. Coordination With and Support of Regular Education Programs

No Child Left Behind Title I services will support the regular education program through modeling of teaching strategies, planning for collaboration on a regular basis with the classroom teacher, and the continuation of team meetings with classroom teachers and parents whenever possible. Educational programs will be coordinated among Beckemeyer Elementary and Coffeen Elementary Schools.

Title I staff are expected to attend Teach Consultation Team (TCT) meetings, Multidisciplinary Committee (MDC) meetings, grade level team meetings, and Title I Team meetings on a regular basis whenever Title I students' needs and progress are discussed. These joint meetings provide for the coordination and integration of services designed to meet eligible children's needs.

Coordinated support from such services as the Montgomery County Extension Service of the U of I, Parental Outreach, Fusion Fitness & Fun, and other community resources will be utilized to support Title I and the regular education programs.

E. Professional Development Opportunities

Title I staff and regular education staff, including principals, and if appropriate, related staff, may participate in a variety of workshops and in-service programs related to Language Arts, Reading, Classroom Management, Technology, Instructional Techniques, Curriculum, Science, Social Studies and Mathematics in order to provide for staff development. The district will provide various Professional Development opportunities through Title I funds, if funds are available. This may include tuition for coursework that will increase the teacher's knowledge and skills.

Coordination will be made between Title I, Title II, and other grant programs to provide articulation and high quality, sustained staff development. Teachers will be requested to suggest particular Professional Development opportunities to help meet challenging NCLB requirements and meet requirements for recertification as highly qualified instructors. Paraprofessionals will be supported in meeting the requirements of the Educator License with Stipulations (ELS) effective as of July 1, 2013.

Professional Development opportunities will include the NCLB Title Conference, annual Illinois Reading conferences, as well as Regional Office of Education Math and Science Symposiums. Other related professional development in-service programs may include high quality professional development opportunities designed to integrate technology with engaged learning concepts.

Professional Development will not be limited to in-service workshops, but may include tuition for high quality classes to provide for the certification of staff to meet NCLB guidelines required of teachers and paraprofessional.

Newly employed staff will meet state and federal requirements in order to be employed for a Title I Position.

This will ensure parental support of the Title I participation by students, parents, and families. Open House activities will extend to all families in the fall, an opportunity to meet with classroom teachers to discuss their child's participation in NCLB Title I Programs.
