

American Red Cross

Every 8 minutes, the Red Cross responds to a disaster.

To help families recover, we provide many types of assistance:

$50-$125 per person in immediate cash assistance

$170-$420 per household for lodging assistance

Up to $500 per person for health and mental health assistance

$100-$300 per household
in additional cash assistance to meet other recovery needs

Based on emergency needs, cash assistance may help with:

Food

Clothing

Home Repair

Appliances

Other family assistance provided by Red Cross volunteers includes:

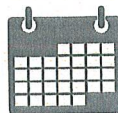

One-on-one Support

Referrals

Recovery Planning

Advocacy

The American Red Cross provides financial assistance to help meet emergency needs for people who may not have anywhere else to turn. The amount of financial assistance is based on whether they can return home, the number of people in the household, and whether they need a place to stay. Learn more about our work at redcross.org